ct scans can be useful for diagnosing chronic or recurrent acute sinusitis and for planning operations.

It is used for treating the unqualified turbine oil, especially the seriously emulsified turbine oil.